MESSAGE

Our heartiest congratulations to people of Rajasthan in Bahrain, and its dedicated office-bearers, for organizing the 3rd Annual 'Padharo Mhare Des' event on January 27, 2017 at Desert camp, Sakhir, Kingdom of Bahrain.

Mr. Alok Gupta, Dr. Pallava Rathore and team-members deserve a special mention for their commitment towards 'promoting the beauty, vibrancy and rich traditions of Aapano Rajasthan'.

Festive events of this nature go a long way in creating bonhomie and better understanding among the Indian diaspora. It also helps the younger generations absorb the rich cultural heritage of our land and connect with their roots.

Rajasthan has much to contribute to the modern world in terms of its intangible cultural heritage. While our state is famous as a tourist destination for its palaces, forts and temples, it cannot be only identified with this tangible heritage. Cuisine, music and dance, languages and literature reflect the cultural diversity of our state. It is a fine example of our 'living heritage'.

On our part in Udaipur, and from The City Palace, we continue to work towards preserving the 'living heritage' of Mewar. Under the aegis of the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation, we are serving society and shouldering moral responsibilities bequeathed to us as Custodians.

We have also established 'Friends of Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation' as a non-profit organisation in USA as a forum to bring together all people of Mewar and Rajasthan who have familial ties or emotional bonds with its cultural heritage.

Our endeavour to reaffirm Udaipur, as a 'centre of excellence' and a seat of learning, is bearing fruit. Udaipur has made news for being declared as one of the Smart Cities of India.

It is time for groups like yours in Bahrain to be meaningfully involved in critical activities back in their home-state. There are unique opportunities in education, healthcare and heritage preservation where we can all work together and create a healthier, happier society.

I wish every success for the 3rd Annual 'Padharo Mhare Des' event. I also look forward to receiving more news about the good work you are doing.

My best wishes, once again.

Padharo Mhare Desh 2017 at Kingdom of Bahrain

Dear Alok ji,

Wish you a very happy New Year.

It is a pleasure to know that 'Rajasthanis in Bahrain' (RIB) foundation is organizing the 3rd edition of its annual event 'Padharo Mhare Desh-2017' at Kingdom of Bahrain.

It is heartening to come across the fact that there is such a large successful rajasthani fraternity in Bahrain. Rajasthanis in different parts of the world have immensely contributed in the development of their 'karmabhoomi' while at the same time have retained strong bonds with their 'matribhoomi'. This is one feature that differentiates rajasthanis from the rest of the world. They are like pure water, which takes the shape of the container but does not lose its basic character.

'Rajasthan' is just not a name of a state, rather, it is our identity and defines who we are. It is synonymous with rich tradition and heritage, royal culture, beautiful landscapes, bravery and valour, majestic forts and palaces. It is a place where one experiences all colors of life.

I am happy to understand that RIB foundation is striving hard to ensure that rajasthanis in Bahrain not only remain connected with each other but is also ensuring that the younger rajasthani generations in Bahrain are exposed to the rich culture and tradition of their motherland. People without the knowledge of their past history, origin and culture are like trees without roots.

I wish RIB foundation all the very best in its endeavor to promote the rich culture & tradition of Rajasthan in Bahrain and congratulate it for becoming a strong platform for rajasthani expatriates to come together and become a force to reckon with. It is because of foundations like RIB, that Rajasthani culture is admired and praised all over the world.

I hope that RIB will continue the good work in future and hold the flag of Rajasthan, India & Bahrain high. I wish huge success to the 3rd edition of 'Padharo Mhare Desh-2017' and hope that all rajasthanis and locals in Bahrain can experience the majestic land called 'Rajasthan'.

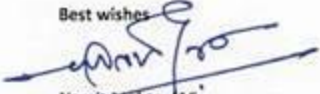

I thank RIB foundation for making me part of this event through this letter.

I will end in the words of Victor Hugo.

"Change your opinion, keep to your principles, change your leaves, keep intact your roots".

Thank you,

Best wishes

Rajasthanis in Bahrain

Dear Alokji,

I am delighted to learn that RIB, a non-profit community group of Rajasthanis resident in Bahrain are organising the 3rd edition of "Padharo Mhare Des" event in Kingdom of Bahrain. My best wishes for the program being held this week of January 2017.

Rajasthanis for centuries have been migrating, not only to other parts of India but also to other parts of the world. Two unique things about us, Rajasthanis are, one even though we settle outside Rajasthan we maintain regular contact with our home town in Rajasthan by visiting the place for participating in marriages in the family or to visit old parents, grandparents or for pilgrimages. The other practice which we have followed for centuries is that wherever we have gone, we have carried with us our rich culture and also the Rajasthani delicacies, which have no parallel.

In the above context your efforts to maintain the culture of Rajasthan in a distant place, like Bahrain is a very praise worthy and should be continued with full vigour.

Another trait of Rajasthanis is to help and assist fellow Rajasthanis in establishing themselves in the city/place where they migrate. I am sure RIB would also be engaged in this noble activity and if not I would encourage you to consider that.

Once again wishing you very best for the program and thanks to Mr. Sandeep Mehta for introducing me to "Rajasthan in Bahrain"

Painting a new perspective

'Colored Adrenaline', an exhibition featuring artist Jess Ramos Tejada to be held in Kingdom

Santhosh Rajendran/
DTNN
santhosh@dt.bh

Manama
Paintings are displayed using different mediums, and many artists have their own versions. But what makes Jess Ramos Tejada unique in this regard is his approach.

For him, painting is the realisation of one's self and the artist attempts to translate all his life experiences onto his canvas.

Jess is an art teacher at Al Wisam School and the recipient of the 2016 Philippine's biennial awards for 'Outstanding Overseas Filipino Workers'.

He has created an extensive collection of paintings which showcase his life's journey using different shades of pop, surrealism, and abstractions.

Jess who is looking forward to his upcoming exhibition themed 'Colored Adrenaline', his first solo attempt in Kingdom, shares his thoughts with DT News.

"My aim is to elaborate the complications of life, the flamboyant story of the little things, through a combination of colours, texture, lines and symbolism," he says.

His experience with nature, colleagues, and stories he read led to him to be a painter, according to Jess.

"My inspirations have always been books, different kinds of people I come across in my life, and of course my home. Art is an honest effort which defines the artist's mood. I do not have any specific strokes, but I am passionate about lines. I love combining them onto canvas to create an intense artwork", he says.

During his spare time, Jess gives talks and free workshops to charity institutions to raise awareness and promote art as a therapy. Jess hopes to expand more internationally and use his talent to advocate and empower children.

About his upcoming exhibition Jess said, "Most of our energies and inspirations are just like adrenaline."

"All of my artworks vary from different mediums, from dry to wet, 3 dimensional to 2 dimensional, most of them are series that tackles life and environmental issues."

"I used some trashes and many day-to-day objects to give highlights to my theme."

The paintings to be displayed at 'Colored Adrenaline' will carry pop, surrealism, and abstractions
